STATE-WIDE DRIVE AGAINST BETTING ON RACES IS LAUNCHED

Campaign Against Race Horse Gambling in Kentucky Is Launched At Meeting Held in Louisville.

Louisville, July 23. — A state-wide campaign against operating of betting machines at Kentucky race tracks was launched at a public meeting here Friday.

The gathering represented virtually all sections of the state and was called by the Committee of One Hundred, recently organized in Louisville to work for elimination of betting at the race tracks.

Helm Bruce, of Louisville, chairman of the executive committee explained the plans of the committee at the afternoon session.

Invitations had been mailed to all members of the committee of one hundred, recently organized in Louisville, to work together with citizens from each of the congressional districts in the state.

With the approach of the primary date, when candidates will be named by both parties for state senator and representative, members of the committee arranged the meeting for the present time to make a survey of the field with a view to securing the nomination of the best men available.

Several weeks ago the executive committee met and named J. Paul Swain as director. He has been in touch with leaders throughout the state. He was present at the meeting and made a report on the progress of his efforts. Representatives from various districts were also expected to report.

Mr. Bruce has been busy for weeks working on plans, which, it is expected may be made public soon. It is expected that the organization will direct its campaign toward nomination and election only of such senators and representatives who will support measures in the next Legislature against betting on horse racing through pari-mutuel machines in Kentucky.

It is said that county and precinct organizations are being made by the committee in nearly every county in the state.

Quite a number of the younger set of Maysville attended a big dance given Friday night at Flemingsburg.

CHAUTAUQUA TICKETS PUT ON SALE TODAY

American Legion Begins Its Campaign For Sale of Chautauqua Tickets—590 Tickets Already Sold.

At a special meeting of the Leslie H. Arthur Post American Legion held on Friday evening final arrangements were made for the sale of season tickets for the chautauqua which is to be held at Beechwood Park during the first of August.

It was learned that already about 590 season tickets had been contracted for by Maysville and Mason county and a desperate effort will be made to sell between 750 and 1,000 tickets before the chautauqua begins. The meeting will be for eight days and an effort is being made to have the National Commander of the American Legion deliver the chief address on Sunday, which is an open date but for a big concert by the Kentucky Cardinal band.

Some of the best talent ever brought to Maysville on Chautauqua has been contracted for this year and every one is promised more than their money's worth during the eight day meeting.

ANOTHER SNAKE STORY OUT OF THE ORDINARY.

William McGraw, of Idaho, formerly of Robertson, who is here on an extended visit to the old home, relatives and friends, was at our friend Thomas Brooks' home near Blue Licks a few days ago when the T. D.'s snake stories among other topics were discussed, which called to mind to Mr. Brooks that he had an experience recently with a black snake which he killed. The snake measured about six feet in length and had two large swollen places on its body that attracted attention. Dismembering his snakeship two artificial hen eggs were found which the snake had doubtless swallowed in making its rounds of the neighboring hens' nests, and which proved to be indigestible. —Mt. AUTO STRIKES POLE; WOMAN IS INJURED.

An automobile driven by John Kinney, Mason County Sanitary Inspector, and hauling a number of men and women, ran into a telephone pole on the Germantown pike Friday evening and damaged the machine considerably. One woman by the name of Ritchie was thrown onto the pike and injured, although not seriously.

LOCAL OPERATOR OF MOVIE MACHINE HAS PATENTED GREAT AID

Mr. Evan Davidson Invents Indicator That Will Prove Great Assistance To Operator and Greatly Develop Movie Industry.

Mr. Evan Davidson, operator of the moving picture machines at the Washington Opera House, has just applied to the Federal Patent Office for a patent right to a little invention he has just completed which promises to make the work of movie operators easier and at the same time give the public much better pictures.

Although Mr. Davidson has not as yet chosen a trade name for his little invention, it is being called a "Geneva Movement Indicator" and attached to the mechanism of a moving picture projection machine indicates exactly the inaccuracy in all directions of the film as it passes into the small open space through which it is thrown onto the screen. By means of this little device operators will be enabled to keep their pictures always directly on the screen and there will be little jumping or wavering and pictures will not appear on the screen cut off at the top as they do now frequently.

Mr. Davidson as soon as he is granted letters of patent for his invention hopes to be able to make arrangements for their manufacture and general sale.

Mrs. Ben T. Smith died at her home in Sixth street at about 3:30 o'clock Saturday morning following an illness of only a few weeks of a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Smith was born on March 1st, 1863, and was therefore 58 years of age. She had spent her entire life in Maysville and numbered her friends by the score, being a most lovable woman, friendly and agreeable under all circumstances.

Besides her husband, Street Commissioner Ben Smith, she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. J. Bardon Thomas, of Covington, and one son, Mr. Dan T. Smith, of Norwood, as well as three sisters and three brothers.

Funeral will be held from the home Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and burial will be made in the Maysville cemetery.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC.

The Sunday school of the Orangeburg M. E. Church, South, enjoyed a delightful picnic, Thursday, July 21st, at Mr. R. L. Cooper's beautiful grove. Automobiles, buggies, horse-backs and walkers began arriving in early morning with well-filled baskets, boxes, buckets, cans, jars and ice cream freezers. Croquet, ball, swinging and games were enjoyed until the noon hour when a long table was spread filled with everything one's appetite would call for—such as chicken, old ham, croquettes, salads, cheese, pickles, tomatoes, deviled eggs, cakes, puddings, iced tea and ice water. After sixty-two had eaten from this wonderful table there was still enough for everyone's supper.

Croquet, potato races and jumping rope entertained old and young until about three o'clock when the contents of seven big ice cream freezers was dished out in cones to everyone. About 4 o'clock the crowd began to leave with fond memory of a delightful day and some wishing for picnic once every week.

KY. ARMY OFFICER DENIES RECEIPT OF BERGDOLL MONEY

Major Bruce Campbell Flatly Denies Charge of Mrs. Bergdoll That He Got Money.

Washington, July 23. — Major Bruce R. Campbell, United States Army, told a House investigating committee Friday that not a penny of the $6,500 placed by him with a Wall street firm for stock market trading last year was received from the Bergdoll family.

Flatly denying the charge by Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, Philadelphia, that he had been paid $5,000 to aid in obtaining freedom for Grover C. Bergdoll her draft-dodging son, Major Campbell declared that the sum sent to the brokers was his own money, hidden by his wife at her home since the early days of the war.

The Major, called here without opportunity to examine the charges against him, first declined to testify at this time as to the source of the funds. But pressed hard by the committee, told of the hidden treasure, and a moment later related in detail how a $500 investment, placed with the late Milton Young, Lexington, Ky., before the war, grew to $6,000 by 1917. It was this same sum, he said, that was hidden away and later shifted to Wall street and lost.

Professing ignorance as to how the Young investment had increased Major Campbell said that it had been turned back to him by a man, still living, but whose name he declined at the moment to give.

Then in the midst of a sharp exchange with a committee, Major Campbell broke in, declaring: "Oh hell, it was my father."

At this point the committee decided to call the father, William R. Campbell, Lexington, who was asked to come here at once.

MANY REGISTERING TODAY.

MISS MARY NORRIS THOUGHT TO BE VERY BADLY INJURED

Young Lady Injured in Automobile Collision Remains in Critical Condition at Hayswood Hospital.

Miss Mary V. Norris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Norris, of Fern Leaf, whose automobile collided with a machine driven by Mr. Gerald Murphy at East Second and Government streets late Friday afternoon, remains in a critical condition at Hayswood Hospital.

Although the young woman has regained consciousness several times, she has again lapsed into an unconscious state. Physicians are much more encouraged today, however, than they were Friday evening and fear of a serious skull fracture is not so great. Because of her state the attending physicians have not as yet determined on the seriousness of her injuries.

Miss Norris with her sister, Miss Tillie Norris, were driving north on Government street and Mr. Murphy was driving east on Second when the two machines came together. Miss Tillie Norris and Mr. Murphy were only slightly injured. Charles Early, who was in the car with Mr. Murphy, escaped injury. Both cars are very badly damaged.

COMMERCE CHAMBER QUILTS BUSINESS AND TURNS IN CHARTER

At Meeting of Directors of Maysville Chamber of Commerce Friday Evening, All Affairs Are Finally Wound Up.

The Maysville Chamber of Commerce came to an end with a meeting of the Board of Directors held at the Farm Bureau building Friday evening at which time all outstanding debts against the corporation were paid and the directors agreed to surrender the charter of the corporation and stop all activities.

The Chamber of Commerce has many things to its credit in Maysville but for the past two years the organization has been rapidly declining until for more than a year it has had no activities whatever and there have been very few meetings of the Board of Directors. Seeing that the organization was not accomplishing that for which it was organized and thinking that it was impossible under present conditions to revive the body, the directors have seen best to let the organization go out of existence for the present.

All bills against the body were advertised for and paid. The only property which was left was about $150 worth of hunting and decorations, which will be left in charge of Messrs. George H. Frank and George Kirk for the use of the citizens at any time.

BUILT BETTER!

Lasts Longer
Costs Less to Operate

Is this a time to be letting up on the efficiency of farming? A thousand times No! That would be yielding to a penny-wise, pound-foolish policy.

Yield is the big thing today. A certain yield from the land must first pay the fixed expenses—such an investment in land, interest, taxes, or rent, depreciation on equipment, etc.—to break even. For profit, the yield must go higher.

There comes the mission of good, reliable, time-saving machinery—the kind that's built better, lasts longer, and costs less to operate. That's the kind of

WHAT YA MEAN, MONOTONY?

Well meaning, but densely ignorant, editorial writers ever now and again bemoan the routine, unexciting, unvaried life the farmer leads and wisely opine that what the rural world needs is more excitement, more hazard, mayhap, more varied interests.

The wise writers should accomplish a mess of farm chores before breakfast and after supper for a few weeks; they would discover that the rural vocations contain all the hazard and risk and excitement that is left in business today.

In town the days are about the same; you catch the same car, or crank the same flivver, morning and evening; or dodge just so many taxis and milk trucks, or miss just so many hesitating matrons with baby buggies.

But in the country it's different. If you milk a string of eight cows, the farm average, it is a gold letter day in the year that at least one bovine monster doesn't swat you in the eyes with her tail, or poggle the pail between your legs or bowl you over without warning.

When you feed the fool calves it is another rare day when one calf does not suddenly buck up and butt you half across the shed, while its brother bunts the pail from your hands, and its half sister steps on your good foot, the other one being out of commission because the ax slipped yesterday.

If you curry and feed the horses, or wind up the tractor and you escape without at least a back fire, or a back kick, or nip from the mare who always has a grouse until noon you are again unusually blessed.

And through the long hours until bedtime nature offers her various moods, many of them contrary. The sharp shinned hawk swoops down and with a swirl of feathers finishes the last broiler the owls had left. The bigger squarrel, the mole, the field mouse and shrew—omnivorous hog of them all—clean out your sweet corn and excavate your potato patch and mow down your early peas and then sit around and sneer at the castor beans you planted to keep them out of the garden.

If you plow you will doubtless discover a wasp's nest too late.

If you spray an apple tree, a protesting bee or two or twain or twenty will light on you and warm the corner where they are.

Hazard, interest, danger, the untimely arrival of the unexpected, thrills; do you desire these things in abundance. Then get you to the farm—any farm, anywhere—Danville Messenger.

IRONING MADE SIMPLE BY DRYING PIECES SMOOTHLY.

Ironing is one of the disagreeable hot weather tasks of the housewife that can be made easier by drying some of the pieces smoothly and thereby dispensing with the ironing of them, according to home economies specialists in the College of Agriculture. Many flat pieces such as sheets, pillow cases and towels, if hung on the line carefully will dry smooth and when taken down will need to be only neatly folded. This practice also is much more sanitary than ironing and helps the pieces retain the fresh fragrance of the sunshine and out-of-doors.

Much ironing can be saved by making children's dresses and older persons' undergarments out of such materials as crepe. All that is necessary to complete the laundering of these is to hang them on the line and allow them to dry smoothly. White clothing is recommended as the best material for clothes during the summer not only because it is cooler but also because it is easier to launder and does not require the care in laundering and drying that colored clothing does.

The use of paper napkins, oil cloth or heavy doilies in place of the usual table linen is another means of saving ironing since these simple necessities do not require the care and attention that the more elaborate table linens do.

Where there are many flat pieces to be ironed the purchase of a mangle is the simplest and most efficient method of making the summer laundry work easier. The damp clothes may be folded and pressed between the rollers which are heated with gas, gasoline or electricity.

For those pieces that cannot be ironed with the mangle there are many kinds of irons on the market that are self-heated and do away with heating up the kitchen range. The most commonly used and most satisfactory of these is the electric iron. The gas iron also has been found to give satisfactory results as well as those which are heated by denatured alcohol and gasoline.

The gasoline iron has been found especially satisfactory and is highly recommended by those who have used it. The best gasoline is generated into gas which is burned to heat the iron. Best results are obtained by straining the gasoline before using it. A good iron of this type is safe and easily regulated to any heat desired.

New York. — A tree on the roof, it seems, is the modern form of a feather in the cap. I saw a nice, green, shady one perched on top of a formidable brick building away up town the other day and decided that there must be something of this talk of landlords getting in a concession-al from of mind. "Aha! Roof gardens for us poor oppressed tenants," thought I. "I shall insert a tree-clause when I sign my lease renewal next month." But nothing of the sort. That tree, I learned, is the blow horn of a proud and conquering contractor. Whenever a contractor completes a building BEFORE the stipulated date, he has an age-old right to put a tree atop it to announce his triumph to the upward-peering world. Anyone who has even had a building built will understand why we've never grown accustomed to seeing that particular adornment.

The doughnut makers, says the Keeser brothers, had promises not to conduct a bakery within ten blocks of their place. "Taint a bakery," says the defendants. "Tis. Look at those there doughnuts," say Jacob and John. "Doughnuts are not baked. They're fried," is the retort. So Justice Finch has been asked to decide the exact nature of the process of creating a doughnut.

Joseph Schildkraut, starring in "Liliom," is one person who showed wisdom in selecting the right ancestors for himself. With a Roumanian father, a Hungarian mother, a Turkish grandfather and a Spanish grandmother, he had a flying start when it came to a matter of temperament. Added to this, his father chose to be an actor. Could any ambitious person have a much more hopeful background than this? And Mr. Schildkraut is living up to it.

THIS YOUNG MOTHER

Tells Childless Women What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Her

Millston, Wis.—"I want to give you a word of praise for your wonderful medicine. We are very fond of children and for a considerable time after we married I feared I would not have any owing to my weak condition." I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I have a nice strong healthy baby girl. I can honestly say that I did not suffer much more when my baby was born than I used to suffer with my periods before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound years ago. I give all the credit to your medicine and shall always recommend it very highly." —Mrs. H. H. JANSSEN, Millston, Wisconsin.

How can women who are weak and sickly expect or hope to become mothers of healthy children? Their first duty is to themselves. They should overcome the derangement or debility that is dragging them down, and strengthen the entire system, as did Mrs. Janssen, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and then they will be in a position to give their children the blessing of a good constitution.

Manhattan is going to have some funny looking buildings before many years. In order to mitigate the limitations of the building laws which prohibit building from just rising on and on up and up until their straight walls shut all light from the street below, they are making them padoga shaped. The building rises regularly for a good many stories. Then it recedes from the sides and rises a few more; recedes and rises again, and so on, until the top floors are just a little cupola, on top of the terraces of brick and stone. Such a building is being completed on Fifth avenue in the fifties; and whatever may be its triumph in a chieving floor space within the law, it is NOT beautiful.

One has grown accustomed to being disappointed in visitors from afar, whose advance notices would indicate all sorts of picturesque qualities. But her Royal Highness, the Princess Fatima, Sultana of Kabul, Afghanistan, who arrived here the other day en route to England where she is taking her three sons to be educated, compensated for griefs of the past. She stepped into our midst in a bright crimson garment of fluffy material with stockings to match. Her head was covered with veiling and in her nose was a jeweled pendant resembling the emblem of some flourishing lodge. Her ears were so loaded with hanging jewels that one hardly noticed that she didn't cover them with hair as we are accustomed to see ears covered.

Twelve Candidates Out For Team Which Plans to Enter Student Judging Contest at National Show.

Lexington, Ky. — Plans are being made to enter a students' judging team from the College of Agriculture in the intercollegiate swine judging contest which will be held in connection with the national swine show at Peoria, Ill., October 3, according to an announcement made here by L. J. Horlacher, a member of the college animal husbandry staff who is coaching the team candidates. Should the plans materialize this will be the first year that Kentucky has been represented in swine show contest. Five other colleges have largely signified their intentions of entering teams, Mr. Horlacher said.

The team of five students and one alternate which will represent the state in the contest will be picked from the group of 12 candidates who are trying out for the team to represent Kentucky in the students' stock judging contest at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago, November 26. Those who are candidates for the two teams include Frank J. Wedekemper, Louisville; Ralph O. Wilson, Robinson, Ill.; Courtland L. Short, Owensboro; Philip Edwards,

Owensboro; Clyde Watts, Harrodsburg; Scrogan Jones, Buechel; Robert R. Arnold, Morgan; William G. Finn, Burlington; J. W. Chandler Van Cleave, Cave City; Logan West, Paint Lick; Paul Gregory, Frankfort; and William Howell, Greensburg. The candidates are juniors and seniors in the college.

In preparation for the two judging contests the students will spend several days at the Kentucky State Fair, September 12 to 17, where they will practice judging beef cattle, sheep and hogs. They will also take trips to prominent stock farms in the state for the same purpose in addition to practicing judging on the stock at the college farm.

In the swine show contest the students will compete for $450 in team prizes and $150 in individual prizes.

MANY CAUSES FOR OWENSBORO TYPHOID.

Owensboro, Ky., July 23. — Lack of sewer connection, four hundred houses within the city limits being unconnected, lack of cleanliness and poor handling of garbage at homes, are given as the causes of the twelve cases of typhoid fever which have been reported in Owensboro since May 31, by Sanitary Engineer F. C. Dugan, of the State Board of Health, who today completed an investigation into the origin of the disease. He recommended an ordinance calling for connection with sewers, more frequent collection of garbage and advises inoculation against typhoid fever.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

JULY 24, 1921.

Topic: "Saul Begins His Ministry," Acts 9:19-30.

REV. J. J. DICKEY.

Last week we had Saul's conversion, this week we have a study of his early ministry.

The promptness with which he entered upon his work is unusual. His liberal education and his life-long study of the Scriptures gave him better preparation than men usually have for the work of the ministry when they are called. He was probably well advanced in the years of young manhood. In the kingdom God always finds work for those who are prepared to do it. The duty of young people is to prepare themselves for a life of service to God and humanity, and they are sure of being used. God leaves no idlers. He has work for all. The great movement on foot for the promotion of christian education is fraught with great possibilities. But Saul's qualifications were of no value to him until he was saved from sin and he became a follower of Jesus Christ. And so it is with the young people who are preparing for life. All their equipment will be practically useless without salvation. This the most important part of life's preparation. The untrained man who obtains salvation through the blood of Christ, may be handicapped in a degree, but he is worth infinitely more in the kingdom of God who lacks this, no matter how much education and Biblical training he may have.

We note that Saul's theme was "Christ." This is the topic of every really converted man. When Jesus comes into the heart he will be also on the lips. Jesus has shown Saul his terrible error, and had pardoned his sins and filled him with the Holy Ghost, and the most natural thing in the world was for him "to preach Christ." When men do not preach Christ as a savior it is conclusive evidence they are not saved. Saul's knowledge of the Old Testament now fitted him to prove to the Jews that Jesus was the Christ for whom the Jewish nation had long been waiting.

In his argument to prove that Jesus was the Christ "he confounded the Jews." This brought down their opposition and to save his life he was compelled to leave Damascus. He retired into Arabia for three years, returning to Damascus. Thence he set out for Jerusalem which he had not visited since he started for Damascus to persecute the Christians. It was here that he had "made havoc of the churches," but now he comes to defend them. But the Jews would not hear him. To them he was a renegade, a traitor. So was again compelled to flee, and assisted and guided by the brethren he was sent to his home in Tarsus. How long he remained there we do not know but the probability is it was several years.

It requires time to stabilize a young Christian no matter how many years have gone over his head. Through these years of testing God was preparing Saul for the great work of preaching the gospel to the heathen Gentiles. He was training for conflict. He would meet opposition especially among his own people—the Jews, but he was to meet rulers, blinded by prejudice which would be a great test of his faith. He must be seasoned to meet these obstacles. Young men who are called of God to the ministry will do well to take time to prepare for this great work. "A call to preach is a call to prepare," and he is wise who heads this feature of his call. But the young clergy need not wait till the hands of ordination have been placed on their heads to preach Christ. Every convert man or woman is authorized to tell of His power to save from sin and thereby make the greatest argument that can be made for His divinity, for "none can forgive sins but God." The humblest disciple by testifying to his personal salvation is making an unanswerable argument in favor of the divinity of Jesus Christ. Let this testimony be backed up by a consistent Christian life and a great impression is made on the mind of the doubter.

Saul is now approaching to time when he is to start on his first missionary tour. This is another period of training and the Holy Ghost through the church sends him "for hence to the Gentiles."

OH! MY BACK!

The Expression of Many a Kidney Sufferer in Maysville.

A stubborn backache is cause to suspect kidney trouble. When the kidneys are inflamed and swollen, stooping brings a sharp twinge in the small of the back, that almost takes the breath away. Doan's Kidney Pills relieve sluggish kidneys—relieve aching backs. Ask your neighbors. Here's Maysville proof:

Mrs. H. Jones, 702 East Second street, says: "I well know the value of Doan's Kidney Pills, having used them for disordered kidneys and backache and they cured me of the complaint. My back had been giving me trouble for sometime. There was a dull, nagging pain across the center of my back just over my kidneys. Many a day I had to let my house-work go undone as I was feeling so miserable. I had pains in the back of my head and my kidneys weren't acting regularly. As Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in my family successfully I went to Wood & Son's Drug Store and got three boxes. After using them I was all right. I am glad to recommend Doan's."
